lens. The lens is a thin, curved, transparent structure that focuses light onto the retina. The lens is held in place by the ciliary muscles and the zonular fibers. The ciliary muscles are responsible for changing the shape of the lens to focus on objects at different distances. The zonular fibers are responsible for holding the lens in place. The lens is a biconvex structure, meaning it is curved outward on both sides. The front surface of the lens is more curved than the back surface. The lens is made of a protein called crystallin. The lens is responsible for focusing light onto the retina. The lens is a key component of the eye's optical system.
